Primary Care Provider At Oak Street Health

Oak Street Health is a network of neighborhood primary care centers focused on providing measurably better care to underserved Medicare recipients in a value-based model. To date, the Oak Street model has helped engage thousands of patients, keeping them happy, healthy and out of the hospital.

Oak Street Health Primary Care Providers

Primary Care Providers

Our providers build meaningful relationships with patients and their families, then layer on resources to help our teams to provide excellent care. Our providers practice with the support of a comprehensive Care Team which includes:

- Scribe AKA "CIS"
- Medical Assistants
- Nurse Practitioner or Physician Assistant
- Shared RN & Medical Social Worker support

The typical primary care panel in the U.S. is around 2,500 patients for a single physician, our panels at Oak Street Health are around 500-750 patients per team. This creates an opportunity to spend more time with patients, build deeper relationships, and better execute/coordinate care plans.

We agree that excellent care means low hospital admissions, great preventive medicine, and a high quality patient experience. We want providers and clinical staff who are deeply motivated to provide this kind of excellent care.

Oak Street by the Numbers

40% Oak Street health patients are 40% less likely to go to the hospital every year than the average Medicare patient*

92% Our patients give us a 92% Net Promoter Score*

9^{out} of 10 9 out of 10 Patients would recommend Oak Street Health to their family and friends*

Oak Street Health Culture

At Oak Street, we value innovation, open dialogue, and we work with urgency. This requires high energy, active listening skills, and a comfort with regular change.

A few words from our team

Physicians train and endure long hardships and residencies to perfect their skills in compassionate service. The real world model never allows them to serve as scientists and healers for which we initially set our mission. Oak Street Health has revolted against that norm and has set the standard for which future health care models will benchmark. At Oak Street Health, providers are afforded the opportunity to practice medicine as we originally intended... the patient is the center of our universe. All resources and compassion are set before them.
